THE WORKSHOP

This workshop is designed to help singers, churches and community choir directors to understand the process of singing as we age. There are certain physical factors that interfere with our singing, from breath support, control, and range to agility and strength. Understanding what the body is going through and finding possible solutions to those problems is the key to continuing singing beautifully, with healthy habits. This workshop will be interactive and engaging. It will provide valuable information for you to use personally and to share with your singers.

LOCATION

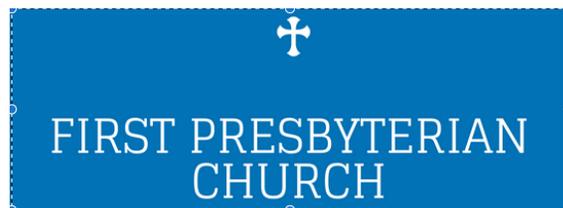

The Workshop will take place at First Presbyterian Church 307 Gates Avenue at the Gideon Blackburn House on Saturday January 26, 2019.
